

A FUNNY THING HAPPENED ON THE WAY TO THE FORUM...

Illustrated by Chuck Whelan

Pompeii was like any city, bustling with people. It must have been full of traffic—people coming and going to work, running errands and going to school. Can you find your way from the amphitheater to the forum, avoiding all the road blocks?

From DIG's March 2005 issue: Pompeii, © 2005, Carus Publishing Company, published by Cobblestone Publishing, 30 Grove St., Ste. C, Peterborough, NH 03458. All Rights Reserved.

ERUPTION JUMBLE

When Vesuvius erupted, it spewed ash for nearly a day. Can you discover up to how many feet of ash fell on Pompeii that day? Unscramble the eruption words and fit them on the lines. When you're done, read the highlighted column and you'll have excavated the answer.

RIFE

OOLVANC

TONPURIE

QAKUEETHRA

NINITYEST
